Vanabhojanam

Vanabhojanam, an age-old tradition symbolizing community bonding and celebrating nature, was joyfully observed at Centurion University of Technology and Management.

Vanabhojanam, which translates to "a feast in the forest," is a cherished cultural practice in many Indian communities. Typically organized during the Kartika Maasam (a month in the Hindu calendar), it involves picnicking in natural settings, sharing food, and engaging in cultural activities to foster a sense of togetherness while appreciating nature's beauty.

Venue and Setting:

The event was held in a lush green outdoor space within the campus in the organic farm area, providing the perfect setting for the traditional feast. Surrounded by nature, the ambiance reflected peace and harmony, enhancing the spirit of the gathering.

Awareness Program on Drug Abuse and Addiction

19th Dec. 2024

In recent times, significant challenges related to drug abuse have emerged, with the youth in particular becoming increasingly attracted to and addicted to Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances. In light of this growing concern, Centurion University, AP has taken proactive steps to raise awareness among students about the impact of narcotic drug usage, the laws in place to address it, and the consequences and challenges associated with such behavior.

As part of our CSR initiative and our ongoing efforts to educate students on the dangers of drug abuse, we had the privilege of inviting Sri SVVN Babji Rao Guru, Deputy Commissioner of Prohibition and Excise for VZM and PVP districts, and Sri Seinadhudu, District Prohibition & Superintendent, to address our students. We were also honored to have Circle Inspector Jatayulatha Rao Guru as a key participant in this awareness program.

Sri SVVN Babji Rao Guru delivered a highly informative and impactful speech on Drug Abuse and Addiction, providing valuable insights and practical guidance on how students can recognize, prevent, and combat substance abuse. The session was attended by all Engineering and Paramedical students, who greatly benefited from his expertise on this critical issue.

Following the speech, Sri SVVN Babji Rao Guru engaged in an interactive session with the students, answering numerous questions and clarifying doubts regarding drug abuse and its harmful effects. His guidance was greatly appreciated, and we trust that the students will take this information to heart and work to spread awareness among their peers.

The pre-Christmas celebrations are a joyous occasion that brings people together to commemorate the birth of Jesus Christ and prepare for the festive season. The event typically begins with a heartfelt introduction to the story of Christ's birth, reflecting on its significance and the message of hope and salvation it brings to the world.

The atmosphere of Centurion University enlivens with vibrant dance performances that celebrate the joy of the season. Worship songs to honor and glorify God, creating a spirit of unity and devotion.

A highlight of the celebration is the cake-cutting ceremony by Vice Chancellor sir and his daughter , symbolizing the sweetness of love and togetherness during this special time. The event takes on a serene and reflective tone during the candlelight service, where students and faculty hold candles as a symbol of the light of Christ shining in the darkness.

The celebrations conclude with a closing prayer, expressing gratitude for the blessings of the season and seeking peace and goodwill for all. These moments of worship, joy, and fellowship set the stage for a meaningful and spiritually fulfilling Christmas.

TIPS FOR A Healthy Winter

Focus on balance in your diet

Up your zinc & vitamin D

Move your body

Focus forward

Find a good sleep routine

Prioritize your mental health

Stay hydrated: Drink enough water to equal two-thirds of your body weight in ounces each day. You can also drink warm beverages like soups, herbal teas, or spiced milk.

Eat a balanced diet: Eat a well-balanced diet with whole grains, lean meats, fish, poultry, legumes, nuts and seeds, herbs and spices, and plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Get enough sleep: Quality sleep is essential for overall health and a robust immune system.

Exercise regularly: Try to exercise for at least 25-30 minutes daily.

Protect your skin: Apply a rich moisturizer immediately after bathing to lock in hydration. You can also use lip balms and hand creams.

Get vitamin D: Take short walks or engage in outdoor activities like brisk walking or playing with kids in the sun.

Manage stress: Winter blues or seasonal affective disorder (SAD) can affect mental health.

Get vaccinated: Consider getting flu and other recommended vaccines to protect yourself and others from preventable illnesses.

Dress appropriately: Dress warmly and stay dry with a hat, scarf or knit mask, mittens, water-resistant coat, and boots.

Practice good hygiene: Wash your hands when you return home and regularly sanitize doorknobs and sinks.
